DETAILED STATEMENT OF FACTS AND SPECIFIC CHARGES TO THE ALABAMA ETHICS COMMISSION

Complainant: Christle D. Moreno, also known publicly as C.C. Dixon-Moreno

Respondent: Jack Robertson, Councilman, City of Orange Beach City Council

This attachment is submitted to support the Alabama Ethics Commission complaint form. It is intentionally limited to credible, verifiable facts sufficient for the Commission to open an investigation and use its investigatory authority to obtain City records, communications, invoices, employment records, Statements of Economic Interests, and related documents.

I. VERIFICATION STANDARD

The facts below are based on my public-records history with the City of Orange Beach, my June 17, 2026 written notice to the City Council, Councilman Robertson's public Facebook statements on June 19, 2026, public City/department Facebook records identifying Jamie Robertson as a City employee, and the exhibits attached. Where I do not have internal City records, I state the issue as a request for investigation rather than as a final conclusion.

II. STATUTES INVOKED

This complaint requests investigation under Ala. Code §§ 36-25-1, 36-25-5, 36-25-7, 36-25-14, and 36-25-17. It also references the City Council's municipal oversight duties under Ala. Code §§ 11-43-43 and 11-43-56 because Councilman Robertson is using pending litigation as a public excuse for refusing to act on matters involving public records, municipal finances, City legal spending, City-paid legal advice, insurance, and threats to councilmembers.

III. FACTS SHOWING ACTUAL NOTICE AND LACK OF ACTION

1. On or about September 2, 2024, Orange Beach Police Department officers responded to a reported domestic-dispute/domestic-violence-related 911 call involving Mayor Tony Kennon at a City office/building at approximately 1:00 a.m. The incident has been associated with Incident No. 24090105.
2. Beginning in July 2025, I requested public records from the City of Orange Beach concerning Incident No. 24090105, including body-worn camera footage, in-car video, metadata, CAD records, radio traffic, and related records. The City did not voluntarily produce the requested video records. I filed suit in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Alabama after the City failed or refused to produce the requested records.
3. On June 17, 2026, I sent a written notice letter to the Orange Beach City Council by USPS and email. I specifically identified public-records failures, public-money concerns, City legal-spending concerns, insurance questions, possible misuse of City resources, City Schools funding/oversight questions, and the Council's statutory duties. I asked the Council to place these issues on the agenda and require public, document-supported answers. Exhibit A.
4. The June 17, 2026 letter asked, among other things, which records requests remain unanswered or partially answered, who approved each decision to withhold/delay/deny/narrow/ignore records, what legal authority supported each refusal, whether councilmembers were being denied records necessary to perform their duties, whether the City had insurance coverage or reservations of rights, how much public money had been spent on legal fees involving my lawsuit, body-camera footage, Mayor Kennon, public records, and related matters, who approved those expenditures, and whether the Council would seek independent legal advice rather than relying on the same legal positions that produced the problem. Exhibit A.
5. Two days later, on June 19, 2026, Councilman Robertson published a public Facebook post about the Mayor's video, lawsuits, ethics complaints, and public criticism. In that post, he stated: "As far as the mayors video... I'm taking in house legal and outside attorney's advice and letting it go through the court system." He also stated: "Did I see the video? Yes. Will I comment on it? No because it's a legal matter." Exhibit B.
6. In the same public post, Councilman Robertson also wrote that he was "sick of ethic complaints and lawsuits, most brought on by one person," and then publicly attacked the constituent/litigant whose public-records lawsuit placed the video issue before the court. Exhibit B.
7. Also on June 19, 2026, after Tierra Stover publicly stated, "I mean I made the the damn 911 call. Help me help you Jack," Councilman Robertson replied: "I can't do anything about the video because it's in the court system. All of our attorney said let it go through the court. I didn't sign the ethic complaint for threatening the council because it was a heated argument and words fly and why bring on more drama." Exhibit C.

8. In another public comment that same day, Robertson again stated that the video was "going through the courts," that he had "no say over that," and that he "did not want to sign the ethos complaint over someone threatening another in a heated argument." Exhibit D.
9. These statements are direct admissions of actual notice. Robertson admitted he had seen the video. He admitted he knew of an ethics complaint or proposed ethics complaint concerning threats to councilmembers. He admitted he refused to sign or support it. He admitted he relied on "our attorney" and in-house/outside legal advice. He admitted he chose not to act because he personally characterized threats to councilmembers as a heated argument and did not want more drama. Exhibits B-D.
10. Robertson's lack of action is specific and verifiable: after written notice and his own admitted knowledge, he did not support or sign the ethics complaint concerning threats to councilmembers; did not publicly call for independent counsel; did not publicly call for a Council agenda item; did not publicly call for a records inventory; did not publicly call for review of legal invoices, insurance coverage, or who approved the City's legal positions; did not publicly call for investigation into who buried or withheld the video/records; and instead blamed the constituent/litigant while using the lawsuit as his reason to do nothing.
11. The pending federal lawsuit does not prevent Robertson from acting on Council oversight issues. The lawsuit may affect release of particular evidence, but it does not prevent a councilmember from asking who withheld records, who approved expenditures, whether City-funded lawyers are advising officials personally, whether insurance is paying, whether councilmembers were threatened, whether public resources were used for private benefit, or whether independent legal advice is needed.
12. A public City/department Facebook post dated July 29, 2025 by Orange Beach Parks and Recreation identifies Jamie Robertson as part of the events/programs team. The staff card identifies her as "Jamie Robertson," "Community Program Director," states that she joined the City of Orange Beach that year, and states that she lives in Orange Beach with her husband Jack. Exhibit E.
13. Jamie Robertson's City employment is not alleged to be illegal by itself. It is relevant because Robertson's household has a financial interest connected to the same City administration whose actions he has been asked to question, investigate, report, or challenge. The Commission should determine whether that household financial interest affected his inaction, refusal to support ethics review, reliance on City legal advice, or treatment of alleged threats to councilmembers.
14. This complaint does not ask the Commission to punish Robertson merely because he disagreed with me. It asks the Commission to investigate his specific lack of action after actual notice: no ethics reporting, no public request for independent counsel, no request for a Council agenda item, no request for records review, no request for legal-spending review, no request for insurance review, no request for investigation into who withheld the video/records, and no public action concerning admitted threats to councilmembers.

IV. SPECIFIC CHARGES / GROUNDS FOR INVESTIGATION

COUNT ONE - Actual Notice and Refusal to Act After Admitted Knowledge

Robertson had actual notice from the June 17, 2026 Council letter and then publicly admitted on June 19, 2026 that he had seen the video and knew of a proposed ethics complaint involving threats to councilmembers. His response was not to support independent review, ethics reporting, records review, or Council action. His response was to say it was in court, rely on "our attorney," minimize threats as a heated argument, and refuse to sign/support the complaint. The Commission should investigate whether this inaction violated or implicates Ala. Code § 36-25-17 and whether it was influenced by private interest, political interest, public resources, or household financial interest.

COUNT TWO - Conflict of Interest / Household Financial Interest

Jamie Robertson is publicly identified by the City/department as a City of Orange Beach employee and Community Program Director. Because Ala. Code § 36-25-1 includes official action, inaction, or decision-making affecting a family member's financial interest, and Ala. Code § 36-25-5 prohibits use of office for family-member gain, the Commission should investigate whether Robertson's spouse's employment, compensation, job security, supervisors, department, or working conditions affected his refusal to challenge the City administration or Mayor Kennon.

COUNT THREE - Use or Reliance on City Legal Resources for Private or Political Cover

Robertson publicly stated he was taking "in house legal and outside attorney's advice" and that "all of our attorney" said to let the matter go through court. The Commission should determine who paid for that advice, who the client was, whether the advice was City-funded, whether it was given to Robertson personally or politically, and whether City-paid legal resources were used to discourage ethics reporting, discourage independent review, minimize threats to councilmembers, or protect Mayor Kennon or Robertson personally. This implicates Ala. Code § 36-25-5(a) and (c).

COUNT FOUR - Possible Improper Influence / Thing of Value

Because Robertson's spouse is a City employee, the Commission should investigate whether any City official, City employee, City attorney, or person acting on behalf of Mayor Kennon used, threatened, promised, protected, or leveraged Jamie Robertson's employment, job security, department placement, compensation, or working conditions to influence Robertson's official action or inaction. This is a request for investigation under Ala. Code § 36-25-7, not a final assertion that such leverage has already been proven.

COUNT FIVE - Willful Neglect of Official Duty / Referral Issue

Robertson had actual notice of matters requiring Council oversight and ethics review, then admitted knowledge of the video and threats to councilmembers and refused to act because he considered the threats a heated argument and did not want more drama. His lack of action is relevant to the Commission's review of conflict, misuse of office, misuse of public resources, improper influence, and failure to report. If the investigation shows that Robertson knowingly refused to perform duties required of his office, the Commission should refer the matter for appropriate review under Ala. Code § 36-11-1, which recognizes willful neglect of duty as a ground for removal of public officers, including municipal officers.

COUNT SIX - Statement of Economic Interests Review

Robertson is an elected municipal official required to file Statements of Economic Interests. The Commission should review his filings under Ala. Code § 36-25-14 to determine whether spouse occupation, household income, City-related income, or other required interests were properly disclosed.

V. REQUESTED INVESTIGATION / RECORDS REVIEW

I request that the Commission use its investigative authority to obtain and review the following records:

1. All communications from June 1, 2026 to present between Jack Robertson and Tony Kennon, Jamie Logan, Renee Eberly, Ford Handley, Ginger Harrelson, Robert Stuart, Jeff Silvers, outside counsel, or City staff concerning the Mayor's video, Incident No. 24090105, threats to councilmembers, ethics complaints, my June 17 letter, public records, insurance, legal fees, or independent counsel.
2. All records concerning the ethics complaint or proposed ethics complaint involving threats to councilmembers, including drafts, emails, text messages, agenda discussions, and communications identifying who refused to sign/support it and why.
3. All engagement letters, invoices, coverage communications, reservations of rights, payment records, and billing entries for in-house counsel, outside counsel, or insurance counsel relating to the video, public-records suit, Mayor Kennon, Robertson, councilmember threats, ethics complaints, or related public communications.
4. Records identifying Jamie Robertson's employment with the City of Orange Beach, including title, department, supervisor, compensation, hiring date, job duties, and any personnel action from June 2025 to present.
5. Robertson's Statements of Economic Interests for relevant years, including spouse occupation, household income, and City-related income disclosures.
6. Records showing whether Robertson requested, opposed, or refused independent legal counsel, agenda action, records review, legal-spending review, insurance review, or ethics reporting after the June 17 letter and June 19 admissions.
7. Records showing whether Robertson took any official action after actual notice, including any agenda request, motion, resolution, inquiry to the City Clerk, request to the City Attorney, request to outside counsel, request to the Mayor, request to police leadership, or request to preserve/review records, legal invoices, insurance coverage, or ethics reporting obligations.

City. Of Orange Beach City Council
4099 Orange Beach Boulevard
Orange Beach, AL 36561

Councilmembers:

I am writing directly to the Orange Beach City Council for the first time because last night's meeting made clear that these issues are no longer limited to my pending litigation, my unanswered public records requests, or my personal dispute with the City's handling of public records.

This is now a Council problem.

More specifically, it is an oversight problem, a public records problem, a public money problem, a City Schools problem, and a statutory duty problem.

Under Alabama law, the Council is not ornamental. Ala. Code § 11-43-43 provides that all legislative powers and other powers granted to cities and towns are exercised by the Council, except where conferred elsewhere by law or ordinance. Ala. Code § 11-43-56 places management and control of municipal finances and property with the Council. Ala. Code § 11-43-57 requires the Council to appropriate municipal funds.

Those statutes matter.

They matter because the Council cannot lawfully control public money while refusing to ask where that money is going, who approved the expenditure, what legal basis supports it, whether insurance coverage exists, whether public funds are being used to defend individual conduct, and whether the City is complying with public records law.

They also matter because public records compliance is not optional. Ala. Code § 36-12-40 gives Alabama residents the right to inspect and copy public records, subject only to lawful exceptions. Ala. Code § 36-12-44 now codifies duties and timing requirements for public officers responding to public records requests.

EXHIBIT A - June 17, 2026 Notice Letter to Council (Page 2 of 5)

Letter placing the Orange Beach City Council, including Jack Robertson, on notice of public-records, public-money, legal-spending, oversight, and conflict concerns.

The City does not get to ignore those duties because a request is inconvenient, politically uncomfortable, embarrassing, or related to the Mayor.

I submitted public records requests to the City beginning in July 2025. Multiple requests remain unanswered. Others were delayed, narrowed, ignored, or handled in a manner that left me no option but litigation.

My pending federal lawsuit should have been the warning sign.

Since then, additional lawsuits, claims, controversies, and public disputes involving the City, its officials, its police department, public records, public communications, and related conduct have continued to surface. At some point, the Council has to stop treating each lawsuit or records dispute as an isolated event and start asking whether the same failure of governance is repeating itself.

The pattern appears to be this:

A public record is requested.

The request is ignored, delayed, narrowed, denied, or obstructed.

The person asking questions is treated like the problem.

The City pays lawyers.

The Council is given incomplete answers, late answers, or no answers.

The taxpayers pay for the consequences.

That is not governance.

That is abdication.

Last night, the Council appeared to experience some version of the same issue firsthand. If Councilmembers are requesting records, documents, invoices, policies, insurance information, communications, school-related information, or other City records and are being refused, delayed, obstructed, or talked down to, then that is not merely a disagreement between elected officials. It is a failure of municipal administration, and the Council has a duty to act.

I also want to address Mayor Kennon's statement regarding the City Schools and his suggestion that some type of "ethical wall" prevents the Council, individually or as a body, from inquiring into the Orange Beach school system.

If the Mayor is relying on a specific statute, ordinance, ethics opinion, Attorney General opinion, written legal opinion, policy, or privilege analysis, then he should identify it publicly.

EXHIBIT A - June 17, 2026 Notice Letter to Council (Page 3 of 5)

Letter placing the Orange Beach City Council, including Jack Robertson, on notice of public-records, public-money, legal-spending, oversight, and conflict concerns.

Because "ethical wall" is not a magic phrase.

Yes, Alabama law vests city boards of education with powers necessary or proper for the administration and management of public schools. I am not suggesting that the Council should micromanage curriculum, personnel decisions, student discipline, or day-to-day school operations.

But operational independence is not immunity from oversight.

The Council appoints members of the city board of education. The Council controls municipal finances. The Council appropriates public funds. The City and the school board may enter cooperative agreements, projects, and programs. School budgets are public-facing financial documents. Public records laws still apply. Public money remains public money.

So if the Council is funding Orange Beach City Schools, appointing school board members, approving agreements, providing municipal resources, or receiving requests for funds, facilities, contracts, or cooperation, the Council not only has the right to ask questions. It has a duty to ask questions.

The Mayor does not get to tell the Council that it must fund blindly and ask nothing.

The Mayor does not get to convert school-board operational authority into a shield against public inquiry, financial oversight, appointment accountability, records review, or questions about City resources.

And the Council should not accept that framing without demanding the legal authority supporting it.

For avoidance of doubt, this email is intended to place each of you on notice.

Once a public official has knowledge of repeated public records failures, questionable expenditures of public money, potential conflicts, potential misuse of City resources, unresolved litigation, school-related funding questions, and obstruction of information needed by the governing body, silence is no longer neutral.

Ala. Code § 36-11-1 recognizes willful neglect of duty, corruption in office, and incompetency as grounds for removal of certain public officers. Alabama law also does not provide blanket personal protection for officials who act willfully, maliciously, fraudulently, in bad faith, beyond their authority, or under a mistaken interpretation of the law.

I am not saying that each of you is personally liable simply because you received this email.

I am saying you now have actual notice.

What you do with that notice matters.

EXHIBIT A - June 17, 2026 Notice Letter to Council (Page 4 of 5)

Letter placing the Orange Beach City Council, including Jack Robertson, on notice of public-records, public-money, legal-spending, oversight, and conflict concerns.

I am also aware that I may have additional claims arising from Tony Kennon's public Facebook conduct and other public-facing communications. I am also aware of potential issues involving Ginger Harrelson's role in public records, communications, and legal positions taken by or for the City.

I reserve all rights as to those issues.

But that is not the purpose of this email.

The purpose of this email is simple: I should not have to keep suing the City of Orange Beach to make the City comply with laws that already apply to it.

I am asking the Council to do its job.

That means, at minimum, placing these issues on the agenda and requiring public answers, supported by documents, to the following:

1. Which of my public records requests remain unanswered, partially answered, delayed, denied, narrowed, or otherwise unresolved;
2. Which public records requests made by Councilmembers remain unanswered, partially answered, delayed, denied, narrowed, or otherwise unresolved;
3. Who made or approved each decision to withhold, delay, deny, narrow, or ignore those records;
4. What specific legal authority the City relied on for each refusal, delay, denial, limitation, or non-response;
5. Whether the City Clerk, Mayor, City Attorney, or any other City official has taken the position that Councilmembers are not entitled to records necessary to perform their duties;
6. Whether the Mayor, City Attorney, City Clerk, or anyone else is claiming that an "ethical wall" prevents Council inquiry into City Schools, school funding, school-related public records, school board appointments, cooperative agreements, City resources used for schools, or public money appropriated for schools;
7. If so, what exact statute, ordinance, Attorney General opinion, ethics opinion, written legal opinion, privilege claim, or other authority supports that position;
8. Whether the City has made any claim under any Alabama League of Municipalities policy or any other insurance policy relating to litigation involving Tony Kennon, public records, body camera footage, First Amendment claims, Facebook-related issues, or related matters;
9. Whether any insurer has accepted coverage, denied coverage, issued a reservation of rights, limited coverage, or refused to pay for any portion of the City's or Tony Kennon's legal defense;
10. How much public money has been spent to date on legal fees relating to my lawsuit, public records disputes, body camera footage, Mayor Kennon, City officials, or related litigation;
11. Who approved those expenditures;

EXHIBIT A - June 17, 2026 Notice Letter to Council (Page 5 of 5)

Letter placing the Orange Beach City Council, including Jack Robertson, on notice of public-records, public-money, legal-spending, oversight, and conflict concerns.

12. Whether the Council intends to obtain independent legal advice regarding its duties, rather than relying solely on the same legal positions that have produced the current problem.

This is not complicated.

The City either has records or it does not.

The City either produced them or it did not.

The City either has insurance coverage or it does not.

The City either spent public money defending Tony Kennon and City officials or it did not.

The Council either has authority over municipal finances or it does not.

The Council either has the right to inquire into public money sent to or spent for City Schools or it does not.

And now, having been placed on notice, the Council either intends to investigate and act, or it does not.

I am not asking the Council to like me.

I am not asking the Council to agree with me politically.

I am not asking the Council to adopt my litigation position.

I am asking the Council to comply with Alabama law, exercise its statutory authority, protect public money, reject unsupported claims of secrecy, and stop allowing public records compliance to be treated as optional.

Respectfully, do your job.
